Numb. 136.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, AUGUST 28, to Saturday, SEPTEMBER 4, 1736.

LONDON, June 10.

THEY write from Naples, that Don Carlos has put the Affairs of his Kingdom in ſuch Order, that his ordinary Revenues ſhall be ſufficient to defray the Expence of the Court, maintain a ſtanding Force of 22,000 Men, keep a large Navy at Sea, and produce a Surplus of 700,000 Ducats yearly.

The King continues in good Health at Herrenhauſen. The Miniſters of State, and a great Number of the Nobility, were aſſembled to receive his Majeſty on his Arrival there, which was on Friday ſe'night, between Eight and Nine in the Morning. His Excellency Mr. Finch, his Majeſty's Miniſter at the Court of Sweden, who was arrived at Hanover from Stockholm, was preſent, and had the Honour of ſome particular Marks of his Majeſty's Favour. His Majeſty then retired, and wrote a Letter with his own Hand to the Queen, and inſtantly ordered away a Meſſenger to bring it to England: He afterwards dined in Publick, and in the Evening there was a numerous Court of both Sexes, very richly dreſs'd.

His Majeſty in his Road paſſing through a Town where General Pont Pietin was, who commanded his Troops on the Rhine, and was lately return'd from thence, had above an Hour's Diſcourſe with him on the Subject of the two laſt Campains. The Troops which are to form a Camp this Summer near Hanover, wait only their laſt Orders to pitch their Tents.

June 12. Their High Mightineſſes having learn'd, that the King of Great Britain had taken the Reſolution of acknowledging King Auguſtus, yielded at length to the Importunity of General Debroſſe, that Prince's Miniſter here, who had ſollicited this Affair for a long time paſt; but no ſooner had they taken the Reſolution, and notified it to the ſaid General, when the Marquis de Fenelon, the French Miniſter here, informed of what had paſſed, repaired to the Preſident of the Week, and repreſented to him, that ſeeing the States General, in purſuance of the Preliminary Articles ſeemed reſolved to acknowledge King Auguſtus, their High Mightineſſes could not refuſe, without diſguſting extremely the Moſt Chriſtian King, to own at the ſame time K. Staniſlaus; and that if their High Mightineſſes were not determined to take this Step, he entreated them to defer, at leaſt, to put their Reſolution in force relating to the other, that ſo the two Kings might be acknowledged together: The Preſident of their High Mightineſſes Aſſembly accordingly made Report the ſame Day of what had paſſed in this Conference with the Marquis de Fenelon; and the Affair being taken into Conſideration, it was reſolved to make the Conduct of his Britannick Majeſty, before he left London, the Pattern for the Republick to follow; and that as the States could not defer any longer to acknowledge King Auguſtus, and that their High Mightineſſes would accordingly write to the two Kings at the ſame time, and let Couriers ſtart with the Letters at the ſame Inſtant.

As the Stadtholder-Provinces exert themſelves in favour of the Prince of Orange, to obtain of the States of Zealand ſome Conceſſions with relation to the Affair of Ter-Veer and Fluſhing, his Pruſſian Majeſty believing he ought to concurr in carrying to Effect what was ſtipulated for that Prince in the Treaty of Partition, and the Accommodation concluded in 1732, for dividing the Eſtates of the late King William, has order'd his Miniſter at the Hague to make it a common Cauſe with the ſaid Provinces, and to omit no Means to procure his Highneſs immediate Satisfaction in this Affair.

The Advices from Italy confirm, that the Affair of Rome was in a Train of Accommodation: That the Spaniſh Troops in that City were grown very Civil, and contented themſelves for the preſent with extorting a Contribution ſufficient for their Subſiſtence, but without practiſing the Plunder and Violence

Violence they uſed at Oſtia, Velletti, and the other Towns.

We are told for Certainty, that at the firſt Audience M. de Chavigni, the late French Miniſter at this Court, had of his Eminence the Cardinal de Fleury, which was in his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty's Preſence, the Report he made of Affairs made ſuch an Impreſſion, that ſeveral Expreſſes were immediately diſpatched to ſeveral Courts of Europe, but eſpecially to that of Sweden, with an Order for a Remittance of a Million and a half of Livres, in Conſequence of the Treaty lately concluded between thoſe two Crowns. It is farther added, that the ſaid Ambaſſador has propoſed to the French Court, that, according to his Opinion, it was highly neceſſary to enter into a cloſe Alliance with the Court of Petersburgh, as the only Medium to baulk the Deſigns of the Proteſtant Powers.

On the 8th of laſt Month, the Grand Signor, unable to conceal longer the Ruſſian Hoſtilities before Aſoph, declared War againſt the Czarina, and hung out the Horſe Tails. At the ſame time the Divan reſolved privately to apply to all the Chriſtian Powers for their Interpoſition with that Princeſs, to come to an Accommodation. 'Tis certain the Turk might have prevented the Rupture, if he would have conſented that Ruſſia ſhould be compriſed in all Treaties to be made with the Perſians; but refuſing it, her Czarian Majeſty ſuſpected that he waited only to ſtrike up a Peace with Kouli-Kan, to unite the whole Ottoman Force againſt her Dominions, and therefore wiſely took the Advantage of her Enemy whilſt he was divided.

The Emperor, whoſe Miniſter at Conſtantinople, was employed to ſecond the Demand of being a Party in all Negociations with Thamas Kouli Kan, and could not ſucceed, takes hence a Cauſe of Diſguſt; and 'tis no longer doubted, but that a Diverſion will be made this Summer in Turky in favour of the Ruſſians. His Imperial Majeſty has ordered ſix Regiments of Horſe, ſix of Cuiraſſiers, three of Dragoons, and one of Huſſars, actually to hold themſelves ready to act in Hungary as the Court of Ruſſia ſhall think fit. The Duke of Wirtemberg is to command the Imperial Army. 'Tis ſaid at Vienna, that Attempt will be made upon Boſnia, and that the Venetians will make a Diverſion alſo on the Side of the Morea.

In the mean time Count Munich in Tartary carries all before him. The Ruſſians at Aſoph have had a Battle with the Turks, and gained a very conſiderable Advantage; ſome Accounts ſay, there were 20,000 Turks and Tartars killed in the Action; but this muſt wait Confirmation.

Sir Everard Fawkener, his Majeſty's Ambaſſador to the Porte, had his firſt Publick Audience of the Grand Signor on the laſt Day of April, to which he was conducted with all poſſible State, and was received with the greateſt Honours.

They write from Madrid, that the Magnificence of the Camp forming at Aranjuez ſurpaſſes all Imagination; the Cavalry is to conſiſt of 6400 Horſe and Dragoons, all pick'd Men, mounted on fine Horſes, and uniformly cloath'd. The Duke of Bournonville is to have the Command, and under him are to be ſeveral General Officers, all vying with each other in the Splendor of their Habits and Equipages, his Catholick Majeſty having revok'd all his Edicts againſt Luxury, to give the greater Scope to Dreſs and Gaiety on this Occaſion. The General's own Baggage Mules are not fewer than 80, all covered with Velvet and Gold Furniture. The other Officers have a Number according to their Rank. 'Tis computed that the Footmen who are to attend their Maſters at this Camp, will amount to more than 8000, all in new Liveries. The Tents for the Royal Family are after the Perſian Manner, contain many Apartments, and richly furniſh'd. Beſides the open Table which their Catholick Majeſties will keep, the Duke de Bournonville is to have another; and that Cooks may not be wanting, he has engaged the French Ambaſſador, Mr. Keene, the Britiſh Miniſter, and the Ambaſſor of Holland, to lend him theirs.

Sir John Norris is ordered to ſtay at Lisbon with the Squadron under his Command, till the Differences between Portugal and Spain are accommodated, and the Peace publiſhed in Europe. His Squadron is not to be diminiſhed or augmented, as reported.

June 15. The Czarina has had the Satiſfaction to receive Advice from Tartary, that the Cham of the Calmucks, a People Friends to, and under the Protection of Ruſſia, have totally defeated an Army of 40,000 Tartars
